

Life Insurance

Dear Husband,

I was shopping for insurance rates yesterday and I was told that there is a two year period that you cannot kill yourself.

I realize that you are a miserable person and would spare the world a lot by being gone but for once think of the kids and me. Wait the two years and then do what you need to do.

Although the insurance company would payout if you had some kind of accident, I do not want to be the subject of an investigation. Spending all of the money on a defense team frankly takes away the whole purpose of having insurance to begin with.

Thanks honey.

Love,
