PLEASE FEEL FREE TO USE THE FOLLOWING FORM LETTER

Dear Husband,

I went through your history on the computer and noticed that you have spent an incredible amount of time surfing pornography websites; while in care of our children when I was at work.

After calculating the time just in the past week; it appears you have a major problem. Your issues are not solely alone with your sick perversion but you have also ruined our keyboard by adding a sticky substance that is a foreign matter to our computer.

I have downloaded your content and plan on producing it as evidence in our divorce trial.

I never knew you had such a love for farm animals. Maybe that explains why in the middle of the night you make sounds that resemble a sheep.

Anyway, I am happy to know that in your miserable life, you have finally accomplished something. Not everyone can lose their kids, wife, house and pension by key-stroking. You deserve the all American Stupid Perv Award. Your children and parents will be proud.

The process server is looking for you. Now get the *uck out of my house.

Love Always,
